SETH LOW IN BROOKLYN. Continued from First Page.

Low would have received the Republican nominations but whatever mistakes may have been made by that body or by party leaders, our candidate is in no way responsible therefor. We have to deal with the situation as we find it to-day, and it is my conviction that the wise and proper thing for Republican voters to do in order to save our city from disaster and correct the mistakes of our leaders is to come in a body to the support of Seth Low. The way to make the Republican party strong and respected is to show that it is composed of reasoning, thinking men, who stand for good government—men who act for themselves from principle—and not mere puppets who follow a name and the dictation of a party leader, right or wrong. This is a Republican idea; Seth Low belongs to our side of the house, and we claim him.

As effort is being made to prejudice Republican voters by declaring that we are associating with Democrats. Mugwumps and Free Traders. They would prejudice your judgment by referring to ancient history, entirely ignoring the McKinley cambaign; but we must remember that these same voters were our allies last year, and that without elected. We were grateful for their assistance in in the cause of good government. It is becoming Tray and more apparent that in any case General on Education Day it will be found that the whole has come to the standard of Seth Low for the public scote.

I did not become a member of the organization until Mr. Lauterbach, then the chairman of the County Committee of the Republican party in New-York, stated publicly and before the organization that the organization would rather have a Tammany Mayor than a Mayor that was not responsible to a representative of the Republican organization. Then I joined the Citizens Union (applicate), for I thought the time had come for men who wanted to contend for good government for the city of New-York to be in a position to do so in the most effective way, whether one machine or the other, or both of them, were opposed to such an organization. That was in the sprine. I heard of it no more, until toward the end of May I was asked if I would accept their nomination.

And, above all, we want a civic govern-ment so well administered that no interests in the great metropoils shall be so small as to be beneath its care, and no interest so great that it shall timidly shrink from attempting to deal with it. That is the target, and I respectfully submit to the citizens of this great city that they are much more likely to hit the target if they aim at it than if they trust to accident, or even to a bad shot, so for Councilmen in the IId District, will be among the speakers.

The signatures continue to be easily obtained for the legal nomination of Citizens Union candidates. Up to last night the only certificates filed were those for the Aidermen in the XXIIId Assembly District and those for the county these, which were urned in on Friday, and those for the borough and for the four Council districts in the borough of Manhattan, which were filed yesterday. It is expected that the certificates for the city ticket will be filed to-morrow. As it is legally unnecessary and would be inconsiderate of the convenience of the Bureau of Elections to file more than two thousand names for all candidates except Aidermen, and five hundred for them, it has been decided to file only a small margin above the requisite number.

A SEQUEL TO AN ELOPEMENT.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT WILL SEND JUDKO KAPLAN BACK TO RUSSIA.

Washington, Oct. 9.—A sequel to an elopement story which came from Atlantic City last summer has just been worked out in the State Description with today lasted. mer has just been worked out in the State Department, which to-day issued a warrant for the surrender to the Russian authorities of Judgo Kapian. This man was arrested in Atlantic City last summer for abusing a young woman supposed to be his wife. The girl, to avenge herself for ill-treatment, confessed that she had cloped with Kaplan, who, she said, was a fugitive from justice in Russia. Before the Russian authorities could be communicated with the man exerced. could be communicated with the man escaped, and could be communicated with the man escaped, and was recaptured only after a long pursuit. The girl's statement proved to be true. Judko Kaplan was a poor tailor living in the Russian town of Kieff. Nearby lived a well-to-do merchant named J. Kaplan. Judko availed himself of the similarity of names to cash a draft for 20,000 rubles drawn to the order of the merchant and escaped to America, leaving in Europe a wife and children. Coming to Boston, he met his consin and eloped with her. The State Department has issued its warrant for his return to Russia on the commitment of a Commissioner in New-York.

Ward to the City Convention at Carnegle Hall, on September 28, who stood up to be counted for patriotism and honesty in politics, as represented by Seth Low, I desire to go on record as viewing with abhorrence and detestation the kind of Republican machine exhibited unveiled at Carnegle Hall, and to be represented by the Hon. Lieutenant Lemuel E. Quigg at the Criterion this evening.

On November 2 I will join with tens of thousands of loyal republicans an aemolishing this infernal machine by voting for Seth Low, and thus make
